FertilAid[®] for women

FertilAid for Women is formulated to help optimize fertility naturally. This effective, non-prescription formula integrates complete prenatal vitamin and mineral support with fertility-enhancing ingredients including Vitex (Chasteberry). FertilAid for Women is designed to help restore hormonal balance, promote regular ovulation and support overall reproductive wellness.*

FertileCM[®]

FertileCM is a nutritional supplement designed to promote the healthy production of cervical mucus - the medium in which sperm travel in order to fertilize the egg. The formula also helps support a healthy endometrial (uterine) lining and increase female arousal, sexual sensitivity and libido.* FertileCM integrates vitamins and key nutrients, including the amino acid L-Arginine, which promotes the synthesis of nitric oxide, a chemical that is produced naturally in the body.

OvaBoost[™] for women

OvaBoost is a dietary supplement designed to promote egg quality and ovarian function in women, particularly for women over the age of 30 or those diagnosed with Polycystic Ovarian Syndrome (PCOS). As a woman ages, the health of her remaining eggs steadily declines. This unique formulation includes myo-inositol, folic acid and melatonin to help prevent the damaging effects of free radicals and help egg cells produce the energy they need for successful conception and implantation.*

FertilAid[®] for men

FertilAid for Men is an effective, non-prescription formula that includes L-Carnitine and a dynamic array of potent antioxidants to help optimize fertility safely and naturally. Clinically validated and formulated based on established scientific research, FertilAid for Men promotes the development of healthy sperm and improves sperm count, motility and morphology.*

CountBoost[™] for men

CountBoost for Men is formulated specifically for men who have been diagnosed with low sperm count, and is designed to be taken along with FertilAid for Men. Unfortunately, more and more men suffer from low sperm count. Our modern lifestyle, so often characterized by too much stress, overexposure to dangerous chemicals, and a diet deficient in essential vitamins and minerals has taken a toll on male reproductive health, and specifically targets sperm health.

MotilityBoost[™] for men

MotilityBoost for Men is formulated for men who have been diagnosed with low sperm motility, and is designed to be taken along with FertilAid for Men. Sperm motility, defined as the forward, swimming motion of sperm, is a key factor in male fertility. The World Health Organization defines normal sperm motility as 50% of observed sperm showing good forward movement. Low sperm motility, even in men with normal sperm count, can pose a formidable challenge for trying to conceive couples.
